

MARGARET A. JACKSON

is a top Bay Area motivational and small business coach, and the CEO of Business on the Edge Incorporated. She has more than 25 years as a business professional. She is the president and founder of the On the Edge Women In Business CLUB. Jackson is a business radio show host for AM 1220 KDOW and AM 1100 KFAQ on Business, Leadership, Management, Purpose and Legacy throughout the nine Bay Area counties, a reach of more than 9.1 million, potential, listeners and beyond the Bay Area. Margaret Jackson is an experienced and skilled marketing communications and public relations adviser, strategist, and adept in small business development coaching. Margaret Jackson is a rising, Bay Area/Silicon Valley, sought-after public figure and power speaker. She has been invited to speak at various organizations, colleges, schools, churches, businesses and professional events. She is the founder of the This Girl Is On Fire annual small business expo & summit event, that supports women in business, professional women, and the next generation of young leaders. Margaret Jackson is a freelance writer for the San Jose Women's Business Examiner, and uses her column to provide information and resources that benefit women and small business development. Jackson believes in giving back to the community and is a board member of the Berryessa Business Association; she was awarded the District 4, 2014 and District 25, 2015 Heroes Awards for her support of small businesses by District 25 Assemblymember Kansen Chu, former 2014 District 4 Councilmember. Jackson is an ordained minister; that uses her platform to bridge the gap between business and faith.

Jackson is, affectionately, known as a passionate and dedicated public figure, a community pillar, and an advocate for small business owners, women professionals, women in business, and the successful advancement of our young people. Margaret Jackson is a power-speaker; she is a game-changer and a provoker of thought.

"Opportunity attracts opposition, opposition attracts critical thinking, and critical thinking is the ignition, the fuel, the force of combustion that is required to make you great!"

*Margaret Jackson is one of 100 professional women in the U.S. interviewed, and quoted in Women Lead
